Bilisim Summit

A highly effective means of promoting your business

This year the ICT Summit and Forum@Bilisim will be staged right on site at the exhibition complex for even more powerful synergies. These events (scheduled to coincide with Turkey's official "ICT Week") create a special platform on which the ICT sector can share visions and viewpoints on today's burning issues. The ICT Summit and Forum@Bilisim give you yet another effective way to reach your target audience at the show.

The ICT Summit takes place on 5 September, and will provide insight on where Turkey now stands on its way to becoming a Knowledge Society. A Final Declaration will be published at the close of the Summit.

In a series of lectures, discussions and seminars, the Forum@Bilisim (6-9 September) will focus on business migration to the eWorld, exploring such issues as data management, human resources management, and process management. The forum will be attended by members of the Turkish business community keen on using ICT to reach their strategic goals. If you, too, wish to share your solutions with this attractive audience, you will find it an effective way to raise your image and generate new leads.

Get the spirit of tomorrow at CeBIT Eurasia Bilisim Istanbul, September 5th – 10th

Stiri ID

CeBIT Eurasia Bilisim – Istanbul is a very important event that consists in a series of conferences and an exhibition that cover, by both geographical position and topics, North Africa, Middle East and Asia regions. That's what makes CeBIT Eurasia Bilisim the largest and most influential exhibition – event in the region commonly called Eurasia.

The structure of CeBIT Eurasia is similar to that of CeBIT Hannover, including the opening with the IT&C International Forum which begins one day earlier. All the details regarding the structure, the promotion, the related and complementary events, the dynamics of the visitors and demographics can be viewed at:

As you already know, IDG Romania – the leader in IT&C publications, events and related services on the Romanian Market – is always one step ahead of the IT&C market needs. That's why we invite you to be part of the largest and most important trade show for Information Technology and Telecommunications in the Eurasia region. And there are at least seven strong reasons for you to be present there:

- ▶ The IT&C Turkish market will exceed $20 billion in 2006;
- ▶ The presence in Istanbul opens a significantly wide horizon of the emerging markets (the area addressed by this show) for the Romanian companies operating in telecommunications, software, Web services and distribution fields.
- ▶ The regional opportunities in the e-Government and public sector areas, taking into account the deep involvement of the Turkish authorities in all e-Government projects, on the one hand, and the lack of such programmes in the Euroasian and North African region, on the other hand. Not least, the Turkish authorities interest in the e-Government market in Romania in the EU admission conditions.
- ▶ After being present several times with promotional stands in the European and Transatlantic events, an "Eastern" opening is more than welcomed as a natural and logical continuation of the Romanian companies efforts to become more visible and powerful in the region. The participation in CeBIT Eurasia Bilisim represents the next step after an already traditional by now presence of the Romanian companies at CeBIT Hannover.
- ▶ The trend of the regional IT&C business – there are a lot of companies that have located their South-Eastern Europe region headquarters in Bucharest. That's an additional argument for regional development in the context of globalization.
- ▶ The new target audience (from the areas mentioned above) – besides the visitors, there are, to a larger extent, a lot of companies that are not present in exhibition-events in the above-mentioned markets, but that will be present in Bilisim. It's useless to underline the great opportunities for making business there.
- ▶ The IT&C businesses in the emerging markets is the next logical step for the Romanian IT&C companies, and it's complementary to the outsourcing business.

- In the Romanian Booth that benefits of the best visibility during Bilisim at a very special rate. Every day we will be organised in the booth a very special match-making session so that the participants be able to fully benefit from their presence at CeBIT Turkey.
- By attending the special Romania@Bilisim Day, organised on the 6th of September by The Association for the Communication and Information Technology from Romania and the Turkish IT&C Foundation, with the support of the Ministries of IT&C from Romania and Turkey and the IT&C Commission from the Romanian Chamber of Deputies.
- In the new special 5th edition of Romanian IT&C Directory, that will be distributed during CeBIT Eurasia, and in all related events that will take place in Turkey and Romania. The supplement will be also distributed with the second edition for September of the ComputerWorld Romania publication.

We trust that we will be partners again in this new and very challenging initiative in order to open together new markets with a significant potential for our industry.
