Dear Mr. Marculeț,

I am writing to invite you to play an active part in our fourth annual VIP 'State of Europe' Policy Summit on Thursday 9 October 2008. Co-Chaired by our President Etienne Davignon together with Commissioners Janez Potocnik and Peter Mandelson, the summit provides a unique opportunity to debate the challenges ahead for Europe in an open and frank manner, in the company of a very select group of discussants.

Under the title of "Creating a Sense of Society", we will bring together some of Europe's business leaders with Europe's most senior decision-makers, NGO leaders, media Editors and opinion-formers to engage in a lively discussion about the EU's image and Europe's challenges in the light of the no to the Irish referendum and next year's European elections. The format of the summit does not allow for prepared interventions but instead engages participants in a lively and interactive debate.

I attach the programme for the event. Topics will be discussed across three sessions and you would be very welcome to participate for the entire day or in any full session of your choice.

The summit will be followed by our prestigious VIP 'President's Dinner'. This high-profile gala dinner will bring together key figures from around Europe. You are of course also invited to join us at this event.

I very much hope you will want to be involved in these events and look forward to hearing from you soon.

Yours sincerely,

Geert Cami

THE STATE OF EUROPE

CREATING A SENSE OF SOCIETY

The fifth annual VIP Policy Summit for Friends of Europe's Trustees, business leaders, top policymakers and opinion-formers

Thursday 9 October 2008
Brussels, Palais d'Egmont

08.30 – 09.00 Welcome of participants

Session I 09.00 – 11.00	POLISHING THE EU'S TARNISHED IMAGE
----------------------------	---

Even though the core elements of the Lisbon Treaty seem likely to survive the Irish referendum's "No" vote, the political drama it has created has done nothing to shake off the EU's negative image with European voters and foreign policy interlocutors alike. What sort of reforms and budget policies are now needed to encourage greater interest and support for EU democratic politics? With CAP reform so high on the agenda, what can the EU do to show itself relevant to tackling food shortages, and are eurozone policymakers doing enough to address the credit crunch?

Chairs: Etienne Davignon, President of Friends of Europe
Peter Mandelson, EU Commissioner for Trade

11.00 – 11.30 Coffee Break

Session II 11.30 – 13.00	CAN EUROPE LEAD THE WORLD ON CLIMATE AND AID POLICIES?
-----------------------------	---

The Copenhagen meeting at the end of next year will be the focus of global efforts to combat climate change. Europe is now the acknowledged leader of the post-Kyoto drive, but how convincing are the EU's own efforts to introduce tough new environmental rules, not least when its member states remain so divided on the nuclear question? Can the Commission's new energy and environment policy proposals yet be called a genuine strategy, and on aid to developing countries, what should the EU do to make more coherent the efforts of donor countries worldwide, just as it has done with its member states?

Chairs: Etienne Davignon, President of Friends of Europe
Janez Potocnik, EU Commissioner for Science and Research

Session III 14.00 – 16.00	WHAT SHOULD EUROPEAN SOCIETY LOOK LIKE IN 2025?
------------------------------	--

From healthcare to sport and from education to economics and business, the cultural differences that have long divided Europe are giving way to a sense of a wider European society. What degree of "Europeanisation" seems likely in society in the coming 20 years? Europe's ageing will revolutionise healthcare costs, growing labour shortages will demand huge investments in education and training as well as in the housing and cultural integration of millions of immigrants. Can financial markets mobilise the necessary funds, and how should we define the areas in which governments must take financial responsibility?

Chairs: Etienne Davignon, President of Friends of Europe
Giles Merritt, Secretary General of Friends of Europe

16.00 End of Summit
