24th of January, 2010

Dear Sir,

On behalf of the Institute for Eastern Studies I am honored to invite you to the 4th Europe-Ukraine Forum, which is to be held on 26-28th of April, 2010 in Kiev (Ukraine).

After the presidential election in Ukraine many observers ask the questions regarding the direction of the changes and the future of relations between the country and its neighbors. Ukraine is, and will remain, an important element of the European policy, hence the processes that take place in this country will be extremely important for Europe. The European integration encompassed whole continent although the forms of the integration and the projects of the integration differ. The European Union proposed to Ukraine a project, which at this stage is not an invitation to the membership; however, the aim is to bring Ukraine closer to the European standards. From the Ukrainian point of view this project seems to be too limited. Apart from that there are other integration processes, which imply a significant geopolitical changes in the CEE region. They will have an impact on the regional economy and the system of the regional security. The European Union, Russia and the US play an active role in this area. Therefore, it is worth analyzing and discussing the challenges which Europe is facing.

These and other issues crucial for Ukraine and Europe will become the subjects of the 4th Forum Europe - Ukraine. The lead politicians, businessmen, experts and journalists will take part in the conference. We would highly appreciate your afford to be among our honorable guests. We will be very grateful if you accept our invitation to participate in a discussion panel entitled
